

COMMUNICATION

Good communicators are able to express their thoughts clearly in order to set expectations for themselves and others. Communication skills help children to think through problems in order to make good decisions.